JetBlue Airways maintains an important West Coast operational and customer service presence in Los Angeles, California. JetBlue does not operate a separate downtown or city-center ticket office in Los Angeles. Instead, nearly all passenger-facing services are provided directly at Los Angeles International Airport (LAX), where the airline manages daily flight operations and customer support.

Los Angeles is a key JetBlue market, serving both leisure and business travelers with strong domestic connectivity and international routes to the Caribbean and Latin America.
